OF UNTOLD VALUE.

The Information Contained in This Citizen's Statement Is Priceless.

The hale, hearty, the strong can afford to toss this paper to one side impatiently when they read the following, but any sufferer in Barre who has suffered hours of torture caused by kidney complaint will stand in his own light if he does not follow the valuable advice offered here.

L. H. Hooker, retired, of 101 Prospect street, Barre, Vt., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at E. A. Drown's, did me more good than all the prescriptions and other remedies I ever used. Over eight years ago I gave a statement for publication telling what they had done for me, and to-day I have even more confidence in them. I had suffered for a long time from kidney complaint, and my condition was finally considered serious. My back ached nearly all the time, and the action of my kidneys was disordered. I at last resorted to Doan's Kidney Pills and received wonderful relief. I use this remedy occasionally now, and have recommended it to dozens of people, many of whom have been so greatly benefited that they have come back and thanked me for telling them of this valuable medicine."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

EXILED.

Verbes Called Forth by Death of Thomas Davidson.

The following verses were called forth by the death of Thomas Davidson, who died in Barre last Friday morning and whose funeral was held Sunday, with interment in Hope cemetery:

In far-off Barre, Vermont, where the lingering sunbeams fell
And the glory of the twilight cast a weird and mystic spell,
Was a young man, unheeding the beauty of the scene—
His thoughts were in his native land and bonnie Aberdeen.

Alas for him an icy hand upon his heart was laid,
And the cold dew of approaching death lay on his youthful head,
And on the sinking orb of day he gazed with vague regret,
For ere another sun would rise his sun of life must set.

Then the weary eyes turned upward to the blue unclouded sky,
As to hear a last fond message his comrades gathered nigh;
They stood in silence round him in the sunlight's ruddy glow
And watched the heaving bosom and the pulse-beat faint and low.

This hard to die so far from home with
But I'll rest, as well in Barre as in bonnie Aberdeen;
I would rather far be sleeping where the moon shines clear and pale
And the stars a watch are keeping o'er flower-crowned Allenvale.

When you return to Scotland and the city by the sea,
Seek out a little cottage—it stands beside the Dee—
And tell my parents not to weep for me in vain,
For in a brighter, happier land, I'll meet them both again.

The giant trees across the path their lengthened shadows flung,
The wind amid the drooping boughs a solemn reunion sung;
The moon across the silvery Dee her first white radiance sent,
And in far-off Barre, Vermont, Scotland's fair son lay dead.

—A Friend.

OPERA HOUSE NOTES.

"The Vanderbilt Cup."
A run of eight months at the Broadway theatre, New York, and three months at the Colonial, in Chicago, is the record of the new musical comedy, "The Vanderbilt Cup," which comes to the opera house next Thursday night, with the same lavishness of detail that distinguished its metropolitan run.

The story of the "Vanderbilt Cup" is a simple one, and yet powerful enough to attract more than a passing interest. Briefly, it details the story of a young character in the Blue Ridge mountains in the Carolinas, "A Mountain Idol," will be the bill and will be followed by the powerful play, "The Power of the Women," a play dealing with life in the south of France and the vendetta of the Corsicans; "A Cowboy's Girl," full of the romance and atmosphere of the plains. An entire change of vaudeville features will be introduced at every performance. For the opening performance ladies tickets are on sale and at the Tuesday and Friday evening performance every lady purchasing a thirty cent ticket will be presented with a handsome sofa pillow cover, as a souvenir of the engagement.

WASHINGTON

Interesting Features of Easter Sunday Observance.

Easter was celebrated in a very friendly way by the two churches of the town last Sunday. In the morning, in spite of a cold rain, the Universalist church held a congregation of more than a hundred people. The church was tastefully decorated with beautiful cut flowers and potted plants. Rev. Irving Towles, the pastor, delivered a short sermon to the children and gave away almost a hundred handsome Easter eggs, some dyed in rainbow tints and some decorated with silver and gold. Six little girls passed through the aisles and carried the eggs to all in the church. Rev. Perkins assisted in the service.

In the evening very nearly the same people assembled in the Baptist church. Here the chief feature of the excellent program was the presentation of four angels, Life, Hope, Joy and Peace; each giving her appropriate message in response to the salutation of the pastor's daughter, Miss Bertha Perkins. The pastor, Rev. F. H. Perkins, delivered a short address on the meaning of the day's celebration. Rev. Irving Towles assisted in the service.

L. D. Tillotson is having some hardwood floors laid in his home. John Lyman is doing the work.

Schools opened in town yesterday morning with the exception of the South Washington, which, owing to the illness of the teacher, will begin Wednesday. The following are the teachers: Miss Faye Beard of Brookfield in the grammar room; Miss Ida Washburn, the intermediate; Miss Anna Spears, the primary; Miss Colby of Randolph in the Taylor district; Miss Church in the New-mans district; Miss Grace McAllister, the South Washington; Miss Nina Jeffords, Simpson district.

Dr. John P. Gifford returned on Sunday night from a six months' absence spent for the most part in New York. For the last few weeks she has been travelling in the West.

On Thursday night there will be a company of people assembled at G. A. R. hall composed of members and associate members of the G. A. R. the W. R. C. and friends. At this time the flag which has been purchased through the generosity of the townspeople will be formally presented to the G. A. R.

A sister of Alec Tatro, who lives a mile or more out of town, whose name was Mrs. McElroy, died last week at Chelsea, where she had been for a few weeks' stay. The remains were brought here, and the funeral was held on Monday at the home of her brother. The interment was in Southview cemetery.

Reports from the Methodist conference give the church here without a resident pastor, but the Rev. Joseph Hamilton, who is to locate here will supply the pulpit till such time as the presiding elder can find just the man needed at this place. Mr. Hamilton will move here from Woodstock where he has been in charge of the church for the last six years.
